

Application Letter

Dear Admission Committee,

My name is Guozhen Fang, and I am writing to apply for admission to the MA in economics at Princeton University. Currently, I am a student at Renmin University of China, simultaneously pursuing degrees in both economics and mathematics.

During my undergraduate studies, I have been dedicated to building a solid academic foundation. The opportunity to study these two disciplines in parallel has provided me with a unique perspective, allowing me to integrate economic theory with mathematical methods. Through courses such as advanced microeconomics, macroeconomics, econometrics, mathematical analysis, and linear algebra, I have not only grasped the core concepts of economics but also developed strong quantitative and analytical skills.

I have also acquired a certain level of programming skills. I am proficient in languages like Python, which I have used to analyze economic data, build econometric models, and conduct simulations. For instance, in a recent project related to analyzing the impact of fiscal policies on economic growth, I utilized Python to clean and process large - scale economic datasets, and then applied econometric models to draw meaningful conclusions.

In addition to my academic achievements, I have actively participated in various competitions at my university. These experiences have sharpened my problem - solving and teamwork abilities. One of the most memorable competitions was the university - wide economic simulation competition, where my team and I had to make strategic economic decisions in a simulated market environment. Through continuous exploration and adjustment, our team achieved excellent results.

Moreover, I was honored to receive the College's Academic Progress Scholarship, which is a recognition of my continuous efforts and improvement in academic performance. This scholarship has further motivated me to pursue higher - level studies in economics.

I am particularly attracted to the MA in economics at your university because of its outstanding reputation and innovative curriculum. I believe that the program's focus on [specific aspects of the program] aligns perfectly with my academic interests and career aspirations. I am eager to immerse myself in an international academic environment, interact with top - notch scholars and students, and expand my knowledge and perspectives in the field of economics.

I sincerely hope that you will consider my application. I am confident that I have the necessary academic background, skills, and enthusiasm to contribute to the MA in economics and achieve excellent results during my study at your university.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Guozhen Fang
