

Dear Oxford University,

My name is Jinchuan Wang, and I am writing to express my sincere interest in applying for admission to the MSc in Economics Department at Oxford University. Oxford University's reputation for academic excellence, aligns perfectly with my academic aspirations and career goals.

I firmly believe that practical experience is the best teacher. One of the most enriching opportunities I had was participating in a social practice activity organized by Renmin University of China. As part of a team, I worked on gathering survey data on the educational conditions of children in Beijing. This task not only involved collecting and analyzing questionnaires but also required us to delve into the broader context of local urban development. The findings were compiled into a comprehensive research report that highlighted both the challenges and opportunities in the intersection of education and urbanization. This hands-on experience not only deepened my understanding of social issues but also reinforced my passion for using research to inform and influence positive change in society.

Yours sincerely,
Jenny Wang
